Alcalá de Henares is regarded through this guide as an important destination for business events; a bet that complements the wide range of cultural and heritage activities offered by the City of Arts and Letters and that also wants to become the keystone of the city's economic development.

Facing the new economic challenges, we have opted to emphasise the exceptional resources that are at our disposal, and exploit the economic side of this cultural city, where singularity makes us unique and supports us in our efforts to generate wealth and employment, as well as to be a Convention City.

The manual you are holding in your hands will allow you to discover every detail of Alcalá, its important historical and monumental legacy –declared World Heritage City in 1998 by UNESCO-, and our wide range of hotels and modern infrastructure, transforming thus our city into an ideal place for holding meetings and conferences.

From now on, our city opens its doors to you all and offers, through the Municipal Conference Office of Alcalá de Henares (OMCA), the support and help you might need to hold a successful meeting in a modern city, and the singularity of a unique historical environment.

Javier Bello Nieto
Mayor of Alcalá de Henares

Thanks to its location near the capital of Spain and Madrid-Barajas Adolfo Suárez International Airport; its wide range of hotels; its extensive and rich cultural agenda; and its transport infrastructure, whether public or private; Alcalá de Henares is a perfect place for holding all kinds of conferences, meetings and incentive trips.

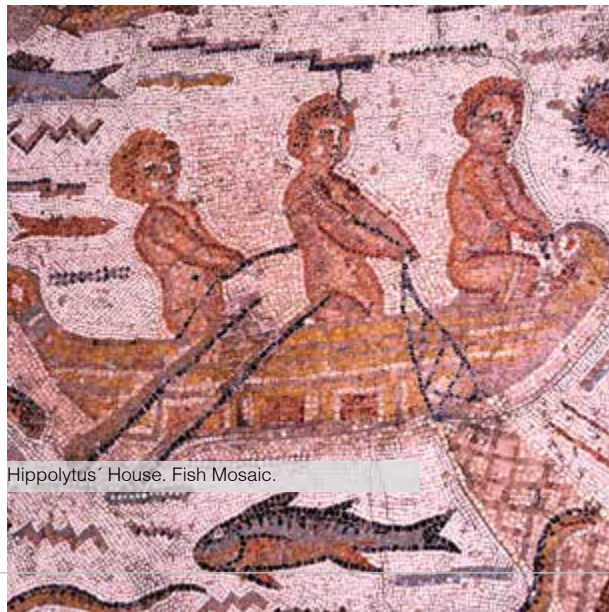

We would like to position Alcalá de Henares as a city of economic development by supporting a sector that fosters a high expenditure per tourist, enhances tourism all year round, and makes the tourist offer profitable; all this along with the common effort and close collaboration with those associations we joined: the Spain Convention Bureau and the Congress-World Heritage Cities Alliance of Spain.

This manual allows you to know first-hand the offer of our city, give advice and professional assistance from the Municipal Conference Office of Alcalá de Henares (OMCA), and also allows you to enjoy a unique experience which makes us feel proud of our city: the opportunity to hold your conferences or meetings in exceptional places that are part of a Historical Site, declared World Heritage Site by UNESCO. Do not hesitate any more; holding your conference or meeting in Alcalá is a guarantee of satisfaction and success.

Marta Viñuelas Prado
Executive Councillor for Tourism

How to arrive by plane

The International Airport of Madrid-Barajas Adolfo Suárez is located about 15km from Alcalá de Henares. Barajas is the most important hub in Spain and the fourth largest airport in Europe. In 2011 49,671,270 millions of passengers used Barajas airport, 429,390 flight operations were carried out and 394,154,078 tons of cargo were transported. In January 2006 the new Terminal 4 was open and increased the number of passenger capacity in 70 million people. Being a spectacular design, Terminal 4 was awarded with the prestigious Stirling Prize for Architecture and became one of the landmarks of our Community. The proximity of the city with Barajas Airport allows passengers to save time and money when travelling. Another great advantage of Alcalá de Henares is its proximity to the IFEMA Exhibition Centre, located just 20 km from the city.

WHAT TO DO IN ALCALÁ?

Alcalá has great potential for quality entertainment, providing a wide range of culture and tourism. A city strongly dedicated to culture, it is regarded as the City of Arts and Letters, and an intellectual and educational reference in the Community of Madrid and the rest of Spain.

Of great importance, there are renowned cultural events as the Classic Theatre Festival in Alcalá, the performance of the Don Juan in Alcalá (Festival of Regional Tourist Interest), Cervantes' Week, which includes the spectacular Quixote's Market (Festival of Regional Tourist Interest), Cervantes' April, which takes place when delivering Cervantes' Award for Literature, or the Holy Week (Festival of Regional Tourist Interest). Every month Alcalá has events of great interest and quality for those who visit us.

WHAT TO DO IN ALCALÁ

There is also a wonderful and unique gastronomy, which embraces and updates the best Castilian cuisine, as well as those typical dishes of the Quixote.

The theatres of this city are a national and international reference, as the Classic Festival in Alcalá and the Comedy Courtyard (a unique jewel of the European scene, which was created in 1601 and considered the oldest one in use around Europe). They also have a varied and attractive programme for those who love theatre.

Alcalá offers as well many possibilities for rest and relaxation, ranging from a wide range of routes and sightseeing, the best sport areas, nightlife fun to walks in the sole World Heritage City of this Community.

ROUTES AND TOURS

Cervantes' train

Recommended by Lonely Planet

Cervantes' train is a unique and exceptional product to visit Alcalá de Henares. The traveller can enjoy the great artistic and historical heritage, as well as the wide gastronomic offer of Alcalá, the birthplace of Cervantes and a World Heritage city. At the train station, actors and extras, dressed in Golden Age costumes, will welcome the visitors during the non-stop strip from Madrid to Alcalá. When arriving in Alcalá, the newcomers will visit the old centre of Alcalá. The itinerary includes the most prominent buildings of the city and will end on time so that passengers might enjoy the cuisine offered by the restaurants associated with this programme. Cervantes' train will also give the passenger discounts tickets for restaurants. It leaves Saturdays in spring and autumn from Atocha train station.

The City of the Three Cultures

Discover Alcalá during the Middle Ages, with its three quarters –Christian, Jewish and Muslim–, through a route that goes all over the landmarks of these historical areas. The spaces and memories of the mosque and the old synagogues, the Jewish butcher's, the shop keepers, the churches, the trades and places that shaped and gave much of its character to a medieval town full of contrasts, was an example of cultural fellowship. Ceramic plaques are placed at the most relevant places of medieval Alcalá. A cross, a seven branched lampstand or a half moon appears on them, depending on which one of the three quarters they are placed at. There are also three main plaques, marking the limits of each quarter and the location of the remaining plaques.

The Muslim Quarter

Main Plaque, Bernardas Square, Archaeological Museum. - Mosque, Santiago Street. - Almanxara, San Bernardo Street, Archaeological Museum. - Old Market, crossing between Diego de Torres and Santiago Streets. - Muslim Quarter wicket, Diego de Torres Street, in front of Madre de Dios street.

Jewish Quarter

Main Plaque, Mayor Street, in front of Imagen Street. - Major Synagogue, Corral de la Sinagoga alley, facing Mayor Street. – Minor Synagogue, Santiago Street. – Jewish butcher's, crossing between Cervantes and Mayor Streets. – Shops and houses at Cambio Corner, Mayor Street, in front of Santos Niños Square.

Christian Quarter

Main Plaque, Santos Niños Square, near Calle Mayor. – Cathedral of St Justus and St Pastor. – The Town Council and the Tercia/St Lucy Hermitage, Tercia Street. – Studium generale, Travesia de Seises Street. – The Brothel, Damas street. – Archbishop's Jail, Vicario Street. – Santa María la Rica medieval hospital, Santa María la Rica Street. – Pillory Square, Santos Niños Square. - Fortress/Archbishop's Palace, Fountain Tower, Palacio Square. – Walled enclosure, Sandoval y Rojas Street.

The City of Literature

Thanks to Alcalá de Henares's cultural relevance and its university tradition our history is full of writers. Some of them were born here, some others discovered and described our city, and many became famous. This signposting guides us through the places connected with them at Alcalá.

The City of the Storks

Historical and natural heritage are closely linked in Alcalá's landscape. The historical buildings' rooftops are a natural settlement area for the white stork. This favours a tourist route merging both elements, thus creating a new way to discover the city.

Don Juan Tenorio and Don Juan's Nights at Alcalá

Open air performance of the immortal romantic play from José Zorrilla around All Saints' Day. According to the tradition, two performances are made, usually on October, the 31st and November, the 1st, coinciding with the All Saints' Day celebrations. Don Juan Tenorio at Alcalá was proclaimed a festivity of Regional Tourist Interest in 2002.

As a complement for those performances, every November, the Council of Tourism of Alcalá organises dramatized visits: "Las Noches de Don Juan en Alcalá" (Don Juan's Nights at Alcalá), a theatrical tour through Alcalá's Old Town, including discounts and special offers in some of the restaurants and hotels of the city. For additional information and reservations, please contact our Tourist Offices.*

Women's History of Alcalá

International Women's Day is annually held on March 8, and Alcalá's City Council proposes a dramatized tour that merges the relevant role of women in the history of the city and the opportunity of visiting the landmarks of its old town. All along the course, the group will be guided by an actress wearing historical clothes. Itinerary: Don Quixote's Women, Antezana and Oidor chapels/The Universes of Cervantes Interpretation Centre. - University and women. María Isidra de Guzmán, San Diego Square. - Literature: Saint Teresa of Jesus, Antezana Hospital inner courtyard. - A queen born in Alcalá: Catherine of Aragon, Bernardas Square. - The Catholic Monarchs and Christopher Columbus, their first interview, Palacio Square.

Los Cerros de Alcalá.

A GREEN CITY

The historical centre of Alcalá de Henares, with its towers, pinnacles and belfries, has one of the most famous colonies of storks in Spain, giving thus a special charm and value to its rich heritage.

On the other hand, the river Henares is a special area of conservation with about 12 km and located mostly in the urban area and offers a wide range of activities for those who love nature.

Alcalá has many routes for nature lovers around the river Henares and the Parque de los Cerros. These activities invite us to enjoy nature thanks to its climate, with over 3,000 hours of sunshine every year.

Los Cerros de Alcalá Educational Nature Centre

Los Cerros de Alcalá have been declared Public Utility Hill by the Community of Madrid. It is the green lung of Alcalá de Henares and the most important natural area. This place has been chosen to develop a great number of environmental education activities. In the park there are four marked routes: Route of Tayares, the Green Gate, the Moorish Castle path and the Ecce Homo. The Arabic Castle let us admire the remains of the fortress of Qal'at Abd-Salam. This castle was built in the mid-ninth century and represents a privileged place to witness, from the hills surrounding the city, the beauty of the riparian vegetation

These routes can be done on foot or by bicycle. We offer the possibility to rent bikes at the Environment Department (telephone: 91 877 12 30). It is the place chosen by the population as a recreational area.

NIGHT LIFE IN ALCALÁ

The well-known cosmopolitan atmosphere of Alcalá is full of university students, summer terraces, bars and nightclubs. It also has cultural and festive activities which take place in its ancient streets and cafés, located in evocative squares and corners, or in old buildings full of charm.

Alcalá de Henares also provides a unique alternative: the pleasure of walking, thinking or just enjoying those picturesque scenarios that remind other centuries.

GASTRONOMY

Alcalá de Henares offers a varied gastronomy that combines the traditional Spanish food with the avant-garde cuisine, not to mention those delicious dishes appearing in the Don Quixote. The variety of restaurants covers all price ranges and menus, special offers for groups, as well as catering companies specialised in business services and restaurants in the historical centre where, thanks to the decoration, you will feel transported to the times of Cervantes. A world of possibilities thought to enjoy the city. In addition, the city plays an important role in the Community, thanks to the remarkable events developed by its catering establishments in collaboration with the Department of Tourism. The Gastronomic Week, in February, the popular Tapas Route and the Cervantes Gastronomic Days, held around the commemoration of Cervantes' birthday, are a good example of this type of gastronomy in the city. Alcalá Culinary Contest "Alcalá Gastronómica", has been held since 2014 in Alcalá de Henares.

As regards desserts, patisseries are really famous in the city and have always remained over the years and created unique handicraft traditions, as the caramel-coated almonds of the Clarisas Convent of San Diego Square. This convent is a place of great tradition, where candies are handmade by nuns. The costrada (seedcake, candied with melted sugar, beaten eggs, and grated bread) and rosquillas are also among the typical products offered by our pastry, which will sweeten the visitor's stay in the city.

SHOPPING

Shopping can be the ideal complement to your stay in Alcalá de Henares. The city has many shopping centres and small and medium establishments treated with detail and really well decorated. Many of them are located in Mayor Street, an old Jewry which has not lost its commercial function for over 500 years, or in the Old Market Square, now called Cervantes Square and main point of life activity in Alcalá de Henares. There is a wide range of activities that will remark the visitor's experience in the city.

Open Shopping Centres

Commercial Area of the Historical Centre. Mayor Street and surroundings. The heart of the historical centre of Alcalá de Henares offers plenty of leisure and entertainment: outdoors activities, with the protection though of the longest arched street in Spain, souvenirs shopping and all kinds of quality items. In the historical city centre, there is a great variety of restaurants with different prices and environments, as well as a wide selection of quaint cafés and modern bars.

Other Open Commercial Areas

The city has many important Shopping Areas that offer all types of products and services.

District I: Mayor, Plaza Cervantes, Libreros, Carmen Calzado, Santiago, Plaza de los Irlandeses, Cerrajeros, Tinte, Cervantes, Ramón y Cajal, San Felipe Neri, Cardenal Cisneros, Victoria, Postigo, Teniente Ruiz, Talamanca, Ángel, Vía Complutense y Paseo de la Estación.

ALCALÁ DE HENARES, A CITY WITH ALL KIND OF SERVICES FOR CONFERENCES

The city of Alcalá has better infrastructures and services, with a total capacity of 5,000 seats in each lounge.

Alcalá also has the best professionals and organisers in conference services, and a single and unique range of additional activities to stay in this unforgettable city.

All this is combined with a historical and monumental framework that only the World Heritage City of Madrid can offer.

OMCA, Municipal Conference Office of Alcalá de Henares, a body which promotes and develops conference services

The OMCA is a municipal agency, part of the Tourism Department of the Municipality of Alcalá de Henares, which develops many tasks of promotion and management about business tourism. It is a member of the Executive Committee of the Spanish Convention Bureau and the Alliance of World Heritage Cities upon Conferences.

The general objectives of the OMCA are:

- To hold conferences.
- To attract conventions and important companies.
- To attend specialized fairs and exhibitions.
- Mass media and advertising.

- Production and distribution of specific promotional material.
- Personal advice on organizing conferences in Alcalá de Henares.
- To provide material in order to publicise the conference where delegates work.
- To provide tourist brochures for delegates participating in the conference.
- To create and maintain up to date a computerized data bank with all the events scheduled in the city throughout the year.
- Membership of any national or international association whose purposes are to promote a market of conferences, conventions or incentives.

(Information about venues, capacity and characteristics of the building in the section Hotels for Incentives, Conferences and Meetings).

The Parador of Alcalá de Henares is a magnificent building of the seventeenth century, an old Dominican college-convent of Santo Tomás who, together with the Student Hostel, located in the former College of San Jerónimo. It was founded by Cardinal Cisneros in 1510 and has wonderful views to the Trilingual Patio of the University of Alcalá de Henares. All these buildings are part of the historical monuments of the city, considered World Heritage by UNESCO in 1998. The Parador is in Colegio Street where the main minor colleges of the city were located.

The Dominican college-convent of Santo Tomás is an old XVII century building, founded by Don Carlos de Mendoza, dean of the Cathedral of Toledo. The convent was built in brick and masonry stone. It was used afterwards as a jail. The Parador consists of a church with a cloister attached to it, according to the scheme of the Spanish convent architecture.

In the heart of the city, there is the Main College of San Ildefonso. The building stands out because of its monumental Plateresque façade, built by Rodrigo Gil de Hontañón between 1541 and 1553.

Getting into the building, we find its old College Yard, located around the Conference Halls. Its granite arches and columns represent the academic strength of figures as Francisco de Quevedo, Santo Tomás de Villanueva and Lope de Vega.

www.2uah.es/cisneros

Located near the station of Alcala de Henares, Laredo Palace is undoubtedly a beautiful architectural caprice. This unique building was opened in 1884 and was designed by Mayor Manuel José de Laredo, architect, painter, illustrator and member of the Royal Academy of Arts of San Fernando. It successfully combines Neo-Mudejar, Gothic, Renaissance, Pompeii and modernists elements with genuine antiquities.

The inside is a world of surprises. Rooms are inspired by the Alhambra of Granada with coffered ceilings, plasterwork and tiles on the walls. The Kings Hall is a copy of the old hall Santorcaz Castle. On the walls there are figures of various kings of Castile and the doom roof is one of the world's oldest planetariums, a wonderful set that catches the visitor's attention.

The International Centre of Cisnerian History Studies Cisneros can be used on request for events and presentations.

Comedy Courtyard of Alcalá de Henares

Plaza de Cervantes,15

91 877 19 50

Production: 91 877 19 50 (ext. 205) produccion@corraldealcala.com

The Comedy Courtyard, a jewel of the typical XVII century architecture and the old Cervantes' Theatre, is one of the oldest public theatres in the western world, one of the first Italian-style theatres conserved in Spain (1831), which also has the peculiarity of having an elliptical floor.

Since 1945 it was used as a cinema (the popular "small theatre") and finally closed in 1971. Restored after 1981, and since April 2, 2005, the Abadía Theatre Foundation, on behalf of the Community of Madrid, is responsible for managing and scheduling the Comedy Courtyard of Alcalá de Henares.

Also, if available and thanks to its restoration and facilities, the Comedy Courtyard can host events of different nature with the necessary technical and audiovisual equipment.

It is located in the historical centre, very close to one of the most representative monuments of Alcalá de Henares.

Services: Features

- Italian stage area which has the following distribution:

- Stalls capacity: 109 seats
- Main box capacity: 10 seats
- First floor capacity: 20 seats
- Second floor capacity: 26 seats
- Gross capacity: 165 seats

Auditorium of 102.57 m², with capacity for 72 people, has an auto-amplifier, speakers, room, wireless microphones, a DVD, projectors, a motorized projection screen and signal distribution system for media.

Exhibition halls. There are 6 exhibition halls (3 on the ground floor and 3 on the first floor), all equipped with track lighting mechanism, and ERCO spotlights.

Floor display area: 346.51 / first floor exhibition area: 345.03 m²

VIP room located on the first floor, with seats for 14 people and an area of 81.36 m². It also has a 40" screen and a DVD.

The Hospital of Santa María la Rica is an example of heritage restoration.

The building dates from the XV century and early XV, and remained as charity hospital thanks to the Confraternity of Santa María la Rica until the XIX century. Charity Hospitals and Confraternities usually appear related to the protection of urban societies. One of these orders was that of Santa María la Rica, which started in the late XIII or early XIV century. The Brotherhood of Santa María la Rica kept these activities through the Hospital until the XIX century. The building was beautifully restored in the early years of this century.

Lounge availability according to schedule

It was sponsored by the Society of Alcala de Henares, Condueños. The theatre was built in just one month in 1888. Throughout its history, it has been theatre, variety lounge, cinema in the 60's and 70's and bingo hall, until the city of Alcalá decided to recover its original function in the 80's and integrate it into the network of theaters of the Community of Madrid. Its facade is one of the few examples of modernism in the city.

Its picturesque interior transports us to XIX century theatrical evenings and has served for the filming of several series and commercials.

This hall is located in the old Convent of Mínimos de San Francisco de Paula. Bartolomé de Santoyo, secretary of Felipe II, promoted its implementation. Its construction began in 1587. On the façade, we can admire the front and the stone cover. Once inside, the beautiful cloister of brick, with stone pillars, stands out. A medium framework divides the two spaces of the church, whose top floor is used today as an auditorium.

The museum was formerly the seat of Dominican Convent of Madre de Dios, founded by Maria de Mendoza in 1576. The building, as we know it today, was built between the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries, although it has undergone major changes. This college emerged in the wake of the Cisnerian city project. Now it houses the Regional Archaeological Museum and has a beautiful cloister of the seventeenth century (now covered).
